ing in the role of prosecutor of Goode or any one else. The report was made up after hearing all of the evidence, and a majority were convinced that Goode's acts were sufficient to warrant the request for his resignation.

COMMITTEE HAS STRADDLED.
SAYS COUNCILMAN POLLOCK
Councilman Pollock supported Mr. English. He asserted that the committee had straddled the question in its report, and that if Goode was guilty of malfeasance in office, "he should be kicked out of office and not asked to resign." He asked the Council if it were willing to "damn a man on this report without hearing the evidence," and stated that it appeared that a "goat had to be made of some one."

Mr. Pollock disclaimed any intention to reflect on the committee.

Mr. Haddon declared that it was not a personal matter with him, but he considered that it was a duty, devolving upon him under his oath of office, to vote against the substitute. Mr. Pilcher stated that the question for the Council was whether the body is "going to stand for the conduct of the Police Department as in the past."

During the debate, Mr. Seaton said he was willing to support a motion to place the evidence affecting Goode before the Council, and when the substitute was defeated, Mr. Pollock brought the matter up. The motion was adopted by a viva voce vote.

ENGLISH DEFENDS MAYOR AND CHIEF.
Councilman English defended the Mayor and Chief of Police, and asserted that they were not deserving of censure in connection with the failure to close houses of ill-fame outside the segregated district, of which there were shown to be only four, despite reports that there were 120. Mr. Pollock moved to strike out all reference to the Mayor in the resolution, but later withdrew the motion, stating that the whole resolution should be defeated.

In opposing the adoption of the resolution, Mr. Haddon stated that, despite the efforts of the Mayor and the Chief of Police, he believed that houses of ill-fame were existing in the city to-day, and that to eliminate the evil entirely, it would be necessary to change human nature.
